

TRIAL OF LEON CZOLGOSZ BEGINS, THE ASSASSIN PLEADING GUILTY.

Court Refused to Accept Plea so The Case Will Proceed.

THE TRIAL UNIQUE IN MANY RESPECTS.

The Prisoner Escorted Through a Tunnel From The Jail to The Court House to Avoid Possible Mob Violence--First Jurymen Quickly Secured--Statement of Defendant's Attorneys--A Speedy Trial is Assured.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 23.—Leon Czolgosz was escorted through the tunnel from the Erie county jail to the court room where he was placed on trial this morning. The tunnel is constructed beneath the street and all danger of mob interference is eliminated by using this underground passage.

Early this morning police officers began assembling in and about the city hall. Every avenue to the building was taken possession of and no one permitted to go there without identification by pass or personal note from the superintendent of police.

Supreme Court Judge Truman C. White is presiding in the court where Czolgosz' guilt will be determined. District Attorney Penny and Assistant District Attorney Haller are representing the state, and former Supreme Court Judges Loran L. Lewis and Robt. C. Titus, the defense, with Carl ton E. Ladd as counsel. Czolgosz was taken to the court room at 9:50 this morning.

Before 9 o'clock this morning the lower floor of the city hall was filled with people anxious to attend the trial. They were quickly dispensed. One woman who had come all the way from Boston was indignant when denied the privilege of attending the trial.

The trial which opened this morning is a unique one. Czolgosz is the first man to be tried in this or any other state for killing a President.

Both Lincoln and Garfield were murdered in the District of Columbia, and therefore their crimes were within the jurisdiction of the federal courts.

This is the first murder trial in the State of New York where there is no defense and where the prisoner himself would make the strongest witness for the prosecution. This is the first murder trial in the State of New York where a confessed prejudice on the part of a juror against the prisoner will not disqualify him. It is the first murder trial wherein the prisoner does all he possibly can to facilitate his own conviction and his own execution.

The court room in which Czolgosz is being tried has a history. Here Kemmler, the first man to die in the room. Czolgosz was coming. There was a deathlike stillness as the door opened and Assistant Superintendent of Police Cusack and Sheriff Caldwell appeared. He was followed by Detectives Solomon and Geary. In the center was the prisoner. He was shackled to both Geary and Solomon. Three of the biggest policemen on the force brought up the van guard.

There was craning of necks and a murmur ran through the court room. Czolgosz's pale blue eyes were riveted on the features of Justice White. All witnesses were on hand and the District Attorney announced that he was ready to proceed.

When within the railed enclosure, the shackles were removed and he remained standing. As Czolgosz faced the Judge there was a slight tremor of his thin lips. Beyond that he was stoical in demeanor as he has been since the crime. Judge Titus said that he did not wish to say anything in apology for the presence of himself and his associates, but he wished to explain the reason why they were there. "At the time we were assigned to defend this prisoner," he said, "I was out of the city, and neither myself nor my associates were consulted about the assignment. At first I declined to accept, but later considered it a duty that I owed to the Court to accept the task, disagreeable though it was. So we are here to see that this defendant if guilty as convicted only on such evidence as the law of the land requires in a case of this character, and that in the trial forms of law shall be observed as the statutes demand in cases of this class."

The Justice said that the prisoner would be accorded such justice as the law demands. The Court would enter a plea of "Not Guilty" in behalf of the prisoner, just as though he had not pleaded "guilty."

"The prisoner's plea of 'guilty,' said the Judge, "indicates that he himself anticipates no escape from the penalty which the law prescribes for a crime of the character alleged in the indictment."

The Judge then observed that he was sure the counsel for the defense would act for the prisoner, just as though they had been retained voluntarily.

Clerk Fisher was then directed to call the first spokesman for a juror.

"Frederick V. Lauer," cried Fisher, "Number 252."

Mr. Lauer was examined by Penny. "What is your business?"

"Plumber."

"Where do you live?"

"No. 1048 Michigan street."

"Do believe in the institutions and the form of government of these United States?"

"I do."

"Do you believe in capital punishment?"

"Yes."

"Do you know any reason why you cannot render a fair verdict on the evidence in this case?"

"No, I know no such reason."

"The juror satisfies the people," said Penny.

Judge Lewis for the defendant asked: "You are married?"

"Yes."

"You have children?"

"Ten living."

The juror satisfied the defense and was sworn in as No. 1.

Richard J. Garwood, a builder of 45 Bryant street, was the next spokesman and proved the second juror. He was slightly hard of hearing he said. He was born in London, England.

Judge Lewis for the defense, drew from Garwood that he lived in Buffalo 18 years, that he was married and had a wife and ten children. "In the event of the counsel for the defense proving that the prisoner is insane would you give him the benefit of that doubt?" asked Judge Lewis.

"I would," Mr. Garwood promptly replied, apparently anxious to become one of the jury.

"Have you talked about the case?"

"I have."

"Have you formed an opinion?"

"I have."

electric chair was sentenced to the extreme penalty. Here Fitzhugh, 1892, convicted himself by admitting on the witness stand to the utter confusion of his counsel that after his first fight with his victim he went back after the knife, thus proving premeditation against himself. Here Clarence Robinson, in 1895, slayer of Montgomery Gibbs, mercilessly ridiculed a jury because the jurors only found him guilty of murder in the second degree.

When the court was called to order at 10.10 this morning, Justice White asked of the district attorney: "Have you any business for the court?"

"Yes," said Mr. Penny. "I wish to move the indictment of Leon F. Czolgosz, charged with murdering William McKinley."

"Let him plead," said the Judge.

Mr. Penny then said: "Leon F. Czolgosz, you are indicted and it is

"Is this opinion so fixed in your mind that no evidence could remove it?"

"It is not. I might be led to change my opinion."

"You were not in the Temple of Music on the day of the shooting?"

"I was not."

"Neither were you at the Pan-American on that day?"

"I was not."

"Do you think you could impartially try this case?"

"I do."

"Accepted," said Judge Lewis.

Joshua Wumer, a farmer of North Collins, was the next spokesman called. He answered the questions of the State promptly. He said that he was not opposed to capital punishment and that he believed in the present form of government.

"Have you formed an opinion about this case?" asked Judge Lewis.

"I have."

"Could that opinion be removed by any evidence that might be offered?"

"I don't know it could."

"Excused," said Judge Lewis, and thus was exhausted the first challenge for the defense.

Henry W. Wendt, a manufacturer, was the next spokesman. He said that he believed in capital punishment and in the form of government.

To the question of Judge Lewis he replied that he had not formed any opinion as to the crime, and that he could render an impartial verdict.

He was acceptable by both the prosecution and defense and took his seat in the box as juror No. 3.

It was evident at this time that the work of securing the jury would not occupy a great deal of time.

Up to 2:20 o'clock this afternoon eight jurors had been selected to try Czolgosz. The balance will undoubtedly be selected this afternoon.

Strike Averted.

Youngstown, Sept. 23.—The threatened strike in the Girard mill of the American Steel Hoop Company was averted today by the company taking back the 50 puddlers discharged because they would not work on the day of McKinley's funeral.

ANARCHISTS

Discharged After a Brief Statement of Both Sides of the Case in Chicago Court.

Chicago, Sept. 23.—The nine mal anarchists arrested here on the night of President McKinley's assassination, on suspicion that they were implicated in the plot were brought in to court this morning to answer the charges of conspiracy. After hearing brief statements by both sides, the court discharged the prisoners.

Romantic Courtship.

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 23.—George H. Laux of Rochester, N. Y., and Miss Jennie Davis of Blount county, were married at Central House, Marysville, after a most romantic courtship. Rev. J. J. Rabiner, D. D., of Marysville, performed the ceremony. Miss Davis, who is the pretty daughter of a prosperous Blount county farmer, answered an advertisement and a correspondence began between her and Mr. Laux which ripened into love. Photographs were exchanged. Mr. Laux was successful in his suit and on last Wednesday came to this city. Recognition was mutual.

Mr. and Mrs. Laux left for Rochester, where they will make their home, after a trip to the Pan-American Exposition. Mr. Laux is one of Rochester's leading business men.

SAMPSON LEAVES BOSTON.

Boston, Sept. 23.—Rear Admiral Sampson left Boston today for Port Hamilton, N. Y., where he will visit his daughter, who is the wife of Lieut. Scott. The Admiral will remain in Port Hamilton for several days and then proceed to Washington, where he will remain until the expiration of his service.

COURT

OF INQUIRY DRAGGING AT WASHINGTON.

LOGS OF VARIOUS SHIPS ARE OFFERED IN EVIDENCE.

WILL SAMPSON BE A WITNESS?

Sampson Leaves Boston and Will Soon Take Up His Residence in Washington—His Attorney is Attending the Schley Court and is Closely Watching Every Point.

Washington, Sept. 23.—The Schley Court opened today at 11 o'clock. The proceedings dragged. The logs of all the Yankee ships in the battle of Santiago were offered in evidence except that of the battleship New York.

Rear Admiral Sampson has leased the house on New Hampshire avenue which he occupied when he was chief of the ordnance bureau and will establish his household there within a week. At his own request he has been relieved from duty as commandant of the Boston navy yard. Owing to the state of his health it is doubtful if he will be in active service again before his retirement, which will occur next February. The question whether he should appear as a witness at the Schley inquiry is unsettled. Admiral Schley's counsel is determined that Sampson shall be brought into the case. Captain Lemly has declared that the inquiry has to do only with the conduct of Admiral Schley in the Santiago campaign and that testimony as to Sampson's action has not a proper place at the hearing. While both sides have thus declared their positions, the issue has not yet been brought to a point where decision by the court was required. In a day or two there will be elaborate arguments on the question and then the court will decide whether the relative merits of Schley and Sampson may be considered, or only the conduct of Schley.

Attorney Slayton of New York who represents Admiral Sampson, has attended every session of the court as a spectator, but has not asked for formal permission to take an active part in the proceedings in the proceedings in the interest of his client. He has said that Sampson will take the stand if he is attacked in any of the testimony. That statement, and the fact that Sampson is about to come to Washington, disposes, it is believed, of the reports that he is too ill to appear as a witness.

Sessions of the court were resumed today, and the investigation will be continued with all possible dispatch. It is stated that under the most favorable circumstances, the inquiry will last three or four weeks.

Those opposed to Admiral Schley feel that a strong point was made against him in the testimony that the firing at the Colon was made at long ranges of 8,000 or more yards, instead of distances that would have been fire effective. Schley's friends, however, point to the fact that the navy department had issued strict instructions that the ships must not be exposed to the fire of shore batteries. Had Schley gone close inshore during that attack on the Colon, they say, with the result of having one or more of his ships disabled, he would have been subject to court martial.

Washington, Sept. 23.—In the Schley court of inquiry, Captain Harbord, executive officer of the Texas during the Spanish war, testified that no picket line was maintained inside the blockade at Cienfuegos. Admiral Schley, in a former report, claimed one had been established. The witness was subjected to a severe cross-examination which he presented. He was questioned at length as to signals and the coaling of the Texas in a heavy sea on May 27 and 28, nothing of a startling nature developing. Admiral Higginson was recalled and modified his statement that during the early part of the blockade the fleet was two or three miles out from Santiago harbor, saying it stood out farther, probably five miles. From this distance he thought it would be difficult to discern a vessel leaving Santiago harbor on account of the high land and shadows underneath. Commander Schroeder thought the fleet should have gone to closer range.

MCKINLEY'S MONUMENT.

Canton, O., Sept. 23.—Judge Day went to Cleveland today to confer with Hanna and Herrick regarding a suitable monument for McKinley.

Wreck in Michigan.

Traverse City, Mich., Sept. 23.—A head end collision occurred at ten o'clock last night on the Grand Rapids and Indiana road at Bonds Mill, six miles north of Cadillac, between passenger train No. 16 south bound, and freight train No. 5, northbound. Fred Zimmerman, freight engineer, was killed and Hiram Fitkop, freight brakeman, was fatally injured.

DENOUNCED

The Minister Who Assailed McKinley Resolutions Condemning Pennsylvania Prohibition Leader.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 23.—Resolutions condemning Dr. Silas A. Swallow of this city, for an attack on the late President McKinley in a recent issue of the Pennsylvania Methodist, of which he is editor, were adopted at a public meeting held under the auspices of the McKinley Veteran Patriotic League of Dauphin county.

The resolutions state that Dr. Swallow "Deserves to be pilloried as an enemy to the United States, and that his name should only be mentioned with those of Judas and Cain. Benedict Arnold, Wilkes Booth, Giteau, Czolgosz and the other traitors, assassins, liars and vile traducers of character who have blackened the pages of the world's history."

The meeting was attended by over 1,000 persons, and was presided over by Major John T. Ensminger, President of the league, which is composed of veterans of the Civil and Spanish-American Wars. Dr. Swallow is a Methodist minister. He was the Prohibition nominee for President of the Christian League in the last national campaign.

MR. ROOSEVELT

Stops Washington Boy From Taking His Picture as He Was Leaving Church.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 23.—An insight into the new President's possible conduct in the future regarding his personal affairs was secured yesterday by Washingtonians through the manner in which he reprimanded a youth who attempted to take his picture as he left the Grace Reformed church, which he has chosen as his house of worship while in Washington. As the President left the church a fifteen-year old boy with a camera took a stand on the outer edge of the sidewalk. Mr. Roosevelt saw the youth with the big box immediately and raising his hand in signal to a bicycle policeman who was near the boy cried: "Stop that! Stop that!"

The officer jumped in front of the camera and Mr. Roosevelt strode forward almost at a run. Coming up to the boy he shook his finger menacingly in his face and declared: "You ought to be ashamed of yourself, trying to take a man's picture as he leaves a house of worship. It's a disgrace. You ought to be ashamed of yourself."

With his brother-in-law, Mr. Douglass Robinson of New York, the President started down the street. The bicycle policeman, who had been instructed to follow the President, started after him, but Mr. Roosevelt turned toward him with an impatient wave of his hand and said: "I don't need you."

The officer turned back and the President and Mr. Robinson continued their walk to the house of Commander Cowles for luncheon. Not a detective, secret service officer or policeman was near them. The President talked almost continuously, and after he had put the camera incident out of his mind, appeared to be in excellent spirits. The hour was such that he met large numbers of people returning from church, all of whom greeted him respectfully. He returned their salutations with smiles and lifted his hat when ladies were encountered. On every hand were heard exclamations of surprise that he should walk about the city unattended, but almost without exception words of admiration for the act were also spoken. Although no officers were actually with the President it was noticeable that a bluecoat was stationed at every corner in the vicinity.

STRIKERS

OPENED FIRE ON REINICKE MINES.

MORE TROUBLE OCCURS DOWN IN KENTUCKY.

GOVERNOR ASKED FOR TROOPS.

One Squad of Thirty Strikers Made It Warm for Guard Patrolling in Front of Miners' Houses—He Beat a Hasty Retreat—Judge Munn Wires Beckham for Militia.

Madisonville, Ky., Sept. 23.—At an early hour this morning the strikers opened fire on the Reinicke mines from the grove 500 yards off, and gradually came nearer. One squad of 25 or 30 strikers stood within 50 yards of the main road and peppered the street, making it so warm for the guard who was patrolling in front of the row of miners' houses that he beat a hasty retreat. The house nearest the strikers was riddled with bullets. Judge Munn has wired Governor Beckham, saying that troops are needed to preserve peace.

DEPUTIES ARMED WITH GUNS.

Earlington, Ky., Sept. 18.—A deputy sheriff arrived here this morning to summon a posse of men and 125 deputies have left here by a special train for Madisonville, where the miners' troubles are occurring. All the deputies are armed with guns.

Declared Sane.

Norfolk, Va., Sept. 23.—John Armstrong Chanler, the divorced husband of Amelia Rives, now Princess Troubetzkoi, who escaped from the New York asylum a year ago, and whose recent appearance near his old Virginia home, caused a wide spread sensation, has been declared sane by Circuit Judge John E. Mason, of Louisa county. Judge Mason has directed that all funds in the trustees' hands be turned over to Chanler in his own right.

CONDITION

Of King Edward's Throat Creates Increased Anxiety—Reported to be Growing Steadily Worse.

New York, Sept. 23.—A London cablegram to the World says: The condition of King Edward's throat is causing him increased anxiety and inconvenience. The Post-Dispatch hears from a reliable Windsor correspondent that early last week Sir Felix Semon, the noted throat specialist, who was appointed physician extraordinary to the King immediately upon his accession was secretly summoned from London to Copenhagen to make an examination of the King's throat. This was the reason of the prolongation of the King's sojourn at Frederiksberg, and of the canceling temporarily of his arrangements to visit Balmoral, where all had been prepared for his reception last Tuesday.

The King now limits his consumption of cigars to three a day, a restriction which he at first strenuously resisted. Although his physicians affirm that the growth in the throat is not malignant, it obstinately resists all attempts at cure, and grows steadily worse. It has affected the King's voice so seriously that he must avoid all public speaking.

Some time since the King thought of trying Christian Science treatment, but after speaking with some of the aristocratic devotees of that sect here and investigating the circumstances of some of their alleged cures, he concluded that the evidence of the efficacy of Christian Science was not sufficiently strong to induce him to run the risk of popular ridicule and possible hostility by experimenting with it.

Emancipation Day.

Columbus, O., Sept. 23.—The colored people of central Ohio observed emancipation day today with a big meeting at Grove city. Gov. George Nash and his opponent in this campaign, Colonel James Kilbourne, were the orators of the day.

What's Better Than Home Indorsement?

Mr. E. T. Johnson, Newark, O.

Dear Sir:—My wife suffered for 10 years with Rheumatism and gradually became worse. Tried different doctors and various remedies without relief. One day some two or three years ago a friend told me of your preparation, RHEUMATOL. After using eight small bottles, (it was then put up in 50c size) all rheumatism disappeared, and has never returned. Not only did it cure Rheumatism, but a very bad case of Eczema of 30 years standing. A dreadful case it was—the sores and scabs spreading up back part of neck into the hair. Several doctors treated her for this malady but no relief of any consequence until RHEUMATOL was used. This Rheumatol cured Mrs. Brandt of Eczema as well as Rheumatism and she has returned during this entire period of nearly 3 years, for which my wife and I are sincerely grateful, and we heartily recommend RHEUMATOL to any one suffering from Rheumatism or Eczema.

THREE RIBS BROKEN.

William Lyle, While Intoxicated Fell Against His Wife Knocking Her Down—Woman Unconscious Many Hours—Lyle Arrested—Baby Cared for Pending Developments.

A very sad accident occurred Saturday evening on West Main street, near Fourth, and as a result Mrs. William Lyle is in the city hospital with three broken ribs, and her husband is in a cell at the county jail.

Lyle is a laborer who lives in Granville. On Saturday he was in Newark and was drinking heavily. His wife met him and was trying to get him off the street, when he staggered against her, knocking her down. He fell across her and she was injured as above stated.

At the time she was carrying her two year old daughter, Nina, and both were taken into Dr. J. W. Hornby's office on West Main street, where medical attention was given the injured woman. Later she and the child were taken to the hospital in McGonagle's ambulance, she being in an unconscious condition. Mrs. Lyle remained in an unconscious condition until Monday morning, when she inquired about the baby.

Marshal Vogelmeier was notified, and was engaged nearly all day Sunday making arrangements to take care of the child, as there was no place in the hospital for it. The child's crying annoyed the other patients in the hospital.

Application was made for the child's admission to the Children's Home, but the regulations would not permit the entrance of the child until its history was furnished. The marshal then turned the matter over to the township trustees, and Messrs. Evert Everts and Frank Kinney endeavored to find a place to put the child.

After a number of futile efforts, Mr. W. J. Steinkemper, proprietor of the "White House" on South Third street, volunteered to care for the little one, and she was left in his charge until other arrangements can be made.

Mrs. Lyle is a woman considerably younger than her husband, and is to all intents a deaf mute, no person who is not familiar with her being able to converse with her. The trouble came from an attack of scarlet fever when she was a child, and three sisters who had the fever at the time are afflicted in the same manner.

Lyle was seen at the city prison this morning by a reporter and was very free to converse.

He was arrested by Marshal Vogel-meier and Deputy Sheriff Wm. Linke Sunday afternoon on a warrant charging him with abandonment of his infant child.

He said that on Saturday he was in a place on Main street drinking beer and whisky, until he became "terribly drunk." Afterwards he met his son George, and daughter, Mrs. Frank Dunaway, children by a former wife. He remembers also that he saw his wife, but the rest of the occurrence he claims, is a blank. He does not even remember how he got to Granville.

He said that on Sunday morning he went into a restaurant to buy a luncheon, and inquired if any one had seen his wife. He was minus $10 which he had and thought his wife had taken it from him, and as she sometimes left him for several days at a time, he did not know what to make of it. Some one in the restaurant then read the account in Sunday's Enquirer to him, which he says, was the first knowledge he had of the accident. He had made his arrangements to come to Newark when arrested.

Mrs. Lyle remained unconscious until early this morning. Her sister Mrs. Ella Bowers, of Fredonia, was at the hospital this morning and conversed with the patient. She asked to see her child, and Nina was taken to her, after which she was taken back to Steinkemper's.

Mrs. Bowers was very angry, and told the reporter that Lyle was a brute, having on previous occasions beaten his wife unmercifully.

When told by the Advocate that Lyle was in jail she remarked:

"There's where he ought to be, and they ought to keep him there."

The little girl is bright and pretty, and of course does not realize the matter at all.

Lyle does not impress one that he is a bad man, and seems genuinely grieved at the occurrence. He said at the jail this morning that he would give all that he possessed if they would let him see his wife. When informed of her condition he broke down and said, "My God, my God, and I did it."

It is not probable that he will be prosecuted for the injury to his wife, as the matter was undoubtedly an accident.

By Death While Addressing a Church Meeting Was Mr. Abbott at Lima Sunday.

Lima, O., Sept. 22.—Last evening while addressing the Endeavor society of the West Wayne Street Disciple church just before the regular service was to take place, N. M. Abbott, an elder in the church and an active worker in religious affairs of the city, dropped dead. Mr. Abbott had nearly concluded his talk and his last words were, "There is one thing more I want to say," but he did not finish. He staggered a moment, then sank into a chair nearby and died before anyone reached him. The supposed cause of his demise was heart trouble. Mr. Abbott was about 69 years of age. There were no services in the church at night owing to the sad affair.

Survey For New Pipe Line to Newark and Drilling of the Third Well is Begun.

To the Citizens of Newark:—

We have begun the survey for laying pipe for the new gas plant, also the drilling of third well is in progress. We will push this matter as far as possible and give you the gas as soon as it can be done. It is very necessary that every person desiring to take gas from us should sign contract before pipe is laid, as the number of persons control the size of pipe to be laid, and aids us in laying pipe to arrange for attaching the consumer; also we will attach in first instance only the persons that have signed contracts, and those not signing will be compelled to wait until we have first connected those who aid us in first instance by signing contract. While we have many contracts, yet several have expressed a willingness to take gas, but do not want to sign a contract. Owing to the requirements of our attention elsewhere in our work, cannot have office open constantly. Our office at 23½ South Park will be open during the day and evening of Saturday, September 28th, for the purpose of taking contracts, and persons desiring to contract can do so at that time.

DEATH

Of Widow of Late Samuel H. Stewart at Home, One Mile North of Newark.

Mrs. Eleanor Stewart, relict of the late Samuel H. Stewart, died at her home on the Mt. Vernon road one mile north of Newark, on Sunday morning at 6 o'clock, after a brief illness of one week. The cause of her death was a prolonged stricture of the bowels, for which there was no relief.

The funeral services will take place at the late home of the deceased on Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock, standard time, the Rev. T. M. Higginbotham, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church, of which the deceased was long a faithful member, officiating, and the interment will be made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Stewart was a daughter of the late James and Eliza Johnson, and was born at the old home place, two miles west of Johnstown, on Christmas day, 1844. On Christmas day, 1865, she was married to Mr. Samuel H. Stewart, with whom she lived most happily until his sudden death on the 12th of July, 1889. Eight children were the fruit of this union, one of whom, Ora B., died in infancy. The other seven children are still living: viz: Mrs. Val Keller, Lillian Stewart, Elizabeth Stewart, Bruce Stewart, Clifford Stewart, Harry Stewart, and Edwin Stewart. The deceased also leaves three sisters, Mrs. Henry Moore, of Delaware, O., Mrs. Jemima Hill and Mrs. Emma Bottenfield of Johnstown, and three brothers, Mr. James Johnson of Johnstown; Harry F. Johnson of Toledo, and Thomas Johnson of Pana, Ill.

Mrs. Stewart was a model wife and mother, and a sincere, devoted Christian woman. She will be sadly missed by the immediate family to whom she was so dear, and by a large circle of friends. Their only consolation in their hour of grief is the fact that she for whom they mourn was ready and willing to go, and has exchanged a world of sorrow and death for that eternal world, where sorrow is unknown and death never comes.

With the Oarsmen.

The national amateur rowing meet for 1903 will be held in St. Louis during the world's fair at that place. This has been accomplished by securing the promise of eleven of the twelve members of the executive committee of the N. A. A. O. While the official designation will not be made until the annual meeting held in March preceding the regatta, yet the St. Louis oarsmen have full assurance that they will receive the regatta without doubt.

Very little trouble was anticipated in securing the regatta for St. Louis during the world's fair, for the members of the committee had several times said that it was their opinion that the west should be recognized in the distribution of the annual regattas, and the request for the regatta was promptly met by the pledges of the committee.

After the formal announcement in March a committee will visit St. Louis to select a course for the regatta. There are several bodies of water in the vicinity of St. Louis that are available for such an event, and after the visiting committee has selected what its members consider the best course St. Louis, it is said, stands ready to spend any amount that it may be necessary to expend in completing what nature may have left undone to make an ideal course in the eyes of the oarsmen.

Novel Southern Athletic Meet.

An athletic meeting on a prodigious scale has been planned by the Louisville State fair at Louisville Oct. 4 and 5. There are twenty-two items on the programme, including the usual events of running, jumping, hurdling and weight throwing.

But the most singular feature of the affair is the value of the prizes offered and the inducement held out to athletes to make the trip to the Blue Grass State. A prize valued at $50 will be presented to the winner of each event and prizes valued at $30 and $20 respectively to the second and third men. An athlete making a new world's record in any event will be presented with a gold stop watch worth $150.

Six athletes will be allowed in the finals, and all who qualify will have their transportation expenses defrayed by the fair people. The Amateur Athletic union rules stipulate that in all open competitions the value of prizes shall not exceed $35, but the Western association of the Amateur Athletic union has passed a special rule allowing the Kentucky fair authorities carte blanche in the matter of prizes and expenses.

Dick Harley's Excuse.

In the old days, when baseball was more popular than at present and when bad fielding by any player was apt to meet with outspoken condemnation from thousands on the bleachers, many ingenious excuses used to be put forth by the players at the end of the day. The newest one, advanced by Dick Harley of the Cincinnati National league club, is of a kind that might be expected from the highest salaried outfielder in the National league when he is doing poor work for his salary. Harley says that on hot days, when the crowd in the bleachers gets down to business and nearly every man removes his coat, the highly colored shirts make a background that is very deceptive. The excuse is generally regarded as one of the most ingenious on record, but every one is waiting to learn what Harley will do when it is cooler.

A CLASS RUSH SCHEDULED FOR TUESDAY AFTERNOON.

Fraternity Boys Wearing Colors—First Issue of Denisonian Under New Management.

Granville, O., Sept. 23.—It is expected that the annual class rush between the Freshmen and Sophomore classes will take place this year on Tuesday afternoon. Special arrangements have been entered into this year by both classes to eliminate all chances of any of the good football material being injured or knocked out in this harum-scarum scramble. To this end a committee of upper classmen was chosen to draw up rules and restrictions and to limit the time of the affair.

The members of Beta Theta Pi fraternity are wearing their colors, having pledged Messrs. F. D. Adams and R. D. Hunt from Franklin, Ohio, and Ralph Miller from Newark, all of the Freshman class, and Frederick Wright from Newark, a member of the Senior Academy class.

The members of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity are wearing the violet, having pledged to their number, Robert Pond, of this village, and Mr. Jones, from Columbus, both of the Freshman class.

The first issue of the Denisonian came out Saturday evening. This year it will be published weekly as heretofore, but every fourth issue will be a literary number in magazine form—a new undertaking. It will be edited and managed jointly by Walter L. Flory from Newark and V. Ernest Field from Ft. Wayne, both members of the Junior class of the University.

Y. M. I. Convention Sunday.

(Zanesville Times-Recorder.)

One of the largest crowds of the year was in the city Sunday in attendance at the opening of the annual Y. M. I. convention.

It is estimated that there was in the neighborhood of 4,000 strangers in the city.

The big event of the day was the parade in the afternoon at 2 o'clock.

This feature marked the opening of the three day session of the convention which is to follow.

The parade formed on Market street and the line of march was through the principal parts of the city. All of the prominent Y. M. I. organizations in the state were represented in the line of march. It was a grand parade and made a creditable showing of the Catholic societies both of the city and surrounding towns. * * *

QUEER OLD FLASKS.

New York Wine Merchant Has an Interesting Collection.

There is an old wine merchant in New York who has a curious collection of old bottles.

One, which he believes to be the oldest bottle used for holding liquor in this country, came from Nassau, in the Bahamas, originally filled with snuff. It is made of a coarse, seaweed colored glass and is shaped somewhat like a chestnut standing upright upon its broad end. There is a broad bottomed bottle which held madeira in Charleston in 1810 and a Viennese bottle 125 years old, whose slender, graceful curves have been supplanted today by a more commercial shape. The first American gin bottle, from the Schuchadt estate, has a pouter pigeon shape, which is delightful to the eye.

Among the later bottles are some which constitute the product of the bottle maker's art when impressed glass came into use. On each side figures are molded into the glass. There are a number of "railroad bottles." On one a wagon running on rails and drawn by a horse is depicted on both sides, with the motto, "Success to the Railroad." On another the same primitive arrangements are shown, commemorating the railroad at Lowell, and on the reverse of the bottle a spread eagle imbedded in thirteen stars.

George Washington figures on one bottle, upon the reverse of which was Zachary Taylor, who, so says the glass, "never surrenders." A spread eagle and what appears to be a Masonic shrine, a fruit basket and horn of plenty and two trees, one in leaf, the other bare, representing "summer" and "winter," are both two faced designs. A large, round bottle, which in these days would contain Holland gin, is impressed with a series of monks at their prayers. It was called the "apostles' bottle," but it drew fire from the pope, who had it put, by edict, out of general use.—American Wine Press.

ENGLAND'S SEA GYPSIES.

A Strange Little Tribe That Lives Always on Boats.

A strange and almost unknown part of the population (if it can be called that) of the British isles is the queer semicivilized folk known as sea gypsies. Real gypsies they are, differing from their fellow gypsies in the fact that they always live on the sea and that, never having mingled with landmen, their type is much purer and more nearly resembles the original.

There are about 500 sea gypsies in Britain. They cruise along the coast, seldom touching the land, but always close to it, in old and weatherbeaten craft that may have carried their grandfathers.

When the tide is out, the old craft will often drop anchor by a sand bank island far out at sea, and her crew will grub for cockles with their hands, filling a score of baskets, but saying nothing to each other, for they are almost out of the habit of speech. They find fifty shellfish where the ordinary fisherman finds one, but they rarely do the same thing two days running, and in the next hour they may be snaring rabbits on a headland miles away.

The sea gypsies are wild eyed and thickest. Their hair is always either jet black or golden. They are still of almost pure Norse or Danish descent, never having used the land and mixed with the shore folk to any extent. Their hands seem to be all thumbs instead of fingers, so powerful and stubby are the digits, because they have done nothing but haul ropes and dig in the wet sand.—New York Press.

Tried and Convicted Too.

Politics in the west, even more than in the east, says the author of "Life and Sport in California," is a profession. I remember two men who were candidates for the office of district attorney. One had served before; the other was a young man conducting his first campaign.

The veteran was speaking in a small town, and after setting forth his own claims he spoke as follows of his opponent:

"I understand that Mr. X. is in every sense a worthy and honorable man, but I ask you to remember that he has never been tried—he has never been tried."

"That's so!" exclaimed a voice. "You've been tried, old man, haven't you—and convicted, too, you know?"

After due inquiry it appeared that the veteran had been, indeed, indicted for horse stealing and convicted. He was not elected.

Norway Fairies.

"Like the Japanese," writes William E. Curtis in the Chicago Herald, "the Norwegians are very superstitious, and as in Japan the forests, the mountains and the gorges are peopled with fairies. Nissen is the good fairy of the farmers. He looks after the cattle particularly, and if he is well treated they are healthy and the cows give lots of milk. To propitiate him it is necessary to put a dish of porridge on the threshold of the cow stable on Christmas morning. Whenever the family moves this invisible being goes along with them and sits on the top of the loads."

Why biscuit get stale

It's as simple as A B C. The atmosphere contains moisture, which is an enemy to crackers and biscuit. Now you see why biscuit or crackers exposed to the air in a box or barrel go stale and grow musty. To overcome this an inventor created the In-er-seal Patent Package, an ingenious combination of specially prepared cardboard and paper so peculiarly folded and securely sealed that it keeps out moisture and all kinds of badness. The In-er-seal Patent Package is used and controlled exclusively by the National Biscuit Company to keep their products fresh and good.

The following biscuit and wafers are now to be had in the In-er-seal Patent Package: Soda, Milk, Graham, Oatmeal and Butter Thin Biscuit, Ginger Snaps, Vanilla Wafers, and Reception Flakes. Look for the In-er-seal

RAILROADS.

Important Links Now Planned.

With the Pennsylvania and the B. & O. systems in closer relation the matter of providing a direct connection between the B. & O. Pittsburg division and the Pittsburg & Western is made possible. The Pennsylvania now controls right of way along the Monongahela "wharf" from the Duquesne freight station to the lower end of Penn avenue and has a track extending to the Exposition building. This will permit the building of a continuous line from the Water street station of the B. & O. to the Pittsburg Junction railroad terminal at Ninth street. There is also some talk of the Pennsylvania and B. & O. purchasing the old Union bridge franchises, or building a new bridge to connect the Pittsburg & Western river belt line and B. & O. with the Ft. Wayne main line. This would permit a through passenger and freight train service between Cleveland and Washington and Baltimore, and establish a short and direct line between Lake Erie and the Southern States.

The B. & O. and Pennsylvania can now establish a through fast service between Cleveland and Washington and Baltimore which will be much shorter than the route via Altoona and Harrisburg. All that is needed here now is a direct connection between the two systems, which can be formed either by a bridge near the Point or by a connecting link to reach the Pittsburg Junction railroad.

It is once more rumored that the low grade river line between lower Allegheny and the West Penn will be used and that Ft. Wayne freight traffic destined for the east will be handled that way. This can be made possible by building a short connection between the Pittsburg & Western and the Ft. Wayne tracks near the Western penitentiary building. Such a line would relieve the elevated tracks of the Ft. Wayne which have been designed recently, and permit of a more favorable connection for West Penn passenger trains at the Allegheny entrance to the new Ft. Wayne bridge.

It will be possible to permit B. & O. Chicago trains to run via the new union station by having them cross the Junction railroad bridge and use the Allegheny Valley tracks. At Youngstown, New Castle, Warren, Akron, Wheeling and other places, the closer relations which are to exist between the Pennsylvania Company and the B. & O. will be of great advantage to both systems and connecting links between terminals are to be built which will be of great benefit to both systems.

AMUSEMENTS.

The average person seldom realizes the amount of work embodied in the details of making an ordinary stage production and much less can he understand the time and energy spent in preparing large productions. Before the footlights the spectacle is most pleasing to the audience, but how many spectators have even a remote idea of the many small details individually rehearsed for weeks, gradually put together and finally presented for their approval.

Probably the most difficult productions are those of the classic drama, to which no actor can more justly lay claim to superiority than Mr. Robert Mantell, whose artistic productions have met with unmeasured success from the Atlantic to the Pacific coasts. Mr. Mantell, under the management of Mr. M. W. Hanley will be seen tonight at the Auditorium, when he will present Hamlet. He will be supported by an exceptionally strong company. The curtain will rise promptly at 8 o'clock according to the new custom established this season by Manager Rosebraugh.

"Way Down East."

Manager William A. Brady's production of Lottie Blair Parker's play "Way Down East" will be given at the Auditorium Saturday next, matinee and evening, Sept. 28. This is the same great play that for several months crowded the Manhattan theatre and the Academy of Music. New York 427 times. It will be given in this city with a splendid cast, elaborate scenery and effects, with every attention to detail that tended to make it a metropolitan engagement so noticeable. The play is a splendid study of New England life, full of sentiment, and that peculiar appealing quality which strikes home to every heart. It is called a story of plain people, and they are plain everyday characters engaged in the homely pursuits of domesticity, but the series of events which are unfolded in the course of the play are of deep dramatic interest, enhanced by the simplicity and naturalness of their telling. The best of critics pronounce it a superior play to "The Old Homestead," or "Shore Acres." And wherever it has been presented scores of letters from clergymen, school teachers, and others have been received telling of their delight at the story that it so aptly teaches. The dialogue is stirring, the wit and the humor bright, and the love scenes deftly arranged.

METHODISTS

HAVE AN ESPECIALLY SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

Summary of the Work—Return of Mr. Johnson is Requested for the Fifth Year.

Sunday was the last day of the Ohio Conference year and the pastor of the First Methodist church, Rev. A. E. Johnson preached both morning and evening to congregations which filled the church to its utmost capacity. At the morning service a summary of the work of the year was given which was exceedingly gratifying to the congregation as it indicated that the church had enjoyed the greatest prosperity in all departments of church activity. The membership is now the greatest in the history of the church, more than 150 having been added this year and 50 more are enrolled as probationers not yet received into full membership. Sixty persons have been baptized.

In spiritual work the year has been marked by most extraordinary results. It is estimated that more than 250 persons have been converted and sanctified in the services, this work not being confined to the special meetings, but continuing throughout the year. In consequence of this spiritual advance the midweek prayer service has doubled in attendance and other services have been established as a part of the regular work of the church.

In finance the results are equally gratifying and unusual. More money has been raised this year for benevolent purposes and special objects than in any year in the previous history of the church. And this has not interfered in the least with the current expense collections. All the regular expenses have been met without any call for a special offering.

The quarterly conference instructed the pastor to ask the annual conference to meet in the First church next fall, and also requested the return of the pastor for the fifth year.

Fatal Array at a Dance. Knoxville, Sept. 22.—Three men were killed at a country dance in the mountains of Green county, near Poe's Springs. Burch Marshall is dead and Patrick Riley and Joseph Huff are dying. There has been a neighborhood feud between the men of Mohawk and Poe's Springs for some time. At the dance Cyrus Poe is said to have made some disparaging remark as to President Roosevelt. Burch Marshall took it up and Poe was aided by Riley and Huff and others.

French Cabinet Crisis. Paris, Sept. 23.—Parisians are intensely disappointed at the failure of Emperor Nicholas to come to Paris and are freely blaming the government. Despite the contradiction given by The Matin, The Journal Des Debats maintains the correctness of its original statement that MM. Millerand and Baudin tendered their resignations to the premier, but were induced to retain their posts until after the czar's visit.

Former Congressman. Balston, N. Y., Sept. 23.—Former Congressman George West, 78, is dead at his home here of apoplexy. He served three terms in congress. He had amassed a large fortune in the manufacture of paper and was also interested in newspapers. At one time he owned the New York Press, the Schenectady Union and The Saratogian.

Crushed to Death. Youngstown, O., Sept. 23.—Michael Dolan, an employee of the National Steel company, was crushed by a heavy truck and died while being taken to the hospital. He was 40 years old and leaves a wife and five children.

Heavy Shortage Alleged. Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 23.—The steamer Hai Ting arrived from Skagway, bringing a report of the alleged absconding of Edward Daniel, cashier for Barsh & Company, merchants of Dawson, with a sum of money variously estimated at from $35,000 to $50,000. Daniel is said to have since been taken in charge on the American side near Eagle City, Alaska, and he will probably return to Dawson to stand trial. The mystery regarding the death of Peter Wyborg, who recently disappeared from Dawson, has been cleared by the finding of the body in the river below Dawson. The man had fallen off the wharf and drowned.

THIRTY PERISHED.

Terrible Scenes Attend a Railway Collision—Petroleum Ablaze.

Bucharest, Sept. 23.—The collision at Palota between the Vienna express and the petroleum train appears, in the light of the latest events, to have been a most terrible affair. In a few seconds the whole area of the collision became a huge lake of burning petroleum. Trees and everything inflammable within an area of a quarter square mile were destroyed. There were some ghastly scenes. A girl was burned to death in sight of both her parents, who escaped. M. Dinu, a Roumanian millionaire, got his foot jammed in the wreckage and begged one of the train guards to sever the foot with an axe, promising him a large reward if he would do so. Before the guard could help him he sank back into the flames and was burned to death. Schwartz, the conductor, who was similarly jammed, clung so desperately to the man who tried to extricate him that his would-be rescuer sustained flesh wounds in the neck and had to be dragged away just as Schwartz perished in the flames. Most of the 32 who were killed were burned to death.

Thrilling Adventures. Albion, Mich., Sept. 23.—Mrs. Charles Davis and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Charles Henry Hancock, while driving to their home, about six miles from here, were attacked by a highwayman, who held their horse and demanded their money. Mrs. Davis whipped up her horse and the highwayman fired at her, the bullet striking her in the neck. Mrs. Hancock then drove the horse to this place, and as they were crossing the Michigan Central tracks here the buggy was struck by a passenger train and both women thrown violently to the ground and severely bruised.

Memorial at Washington. Washington, Sept. 23.—A very impressive national memorial service was held at Chase's Grand Opera House in this city. An hour before the exercises began every seat in the theater, which holds over 4,000 people, was taken, and an overflow meeting of 5,000 people stood in the street listening to addresses in eulogy of the late president. Foreign envoys and prominent officials occupied boxes in the opera house.

Cows Poisoned. Chicago, Sept. 23.—Dairymen near Barrington, 30 miles northwest of Chicago, are in a panic over the fatal results of using poisonous vaccine points for the prevention of anthrax. Cows are dying by the hundred, and fear is expressed that the poison in the vaccine is contagious and that the disease is likely to spread over the entire northern end of the state if some radical action shall not be quickly taken. As a precaution all the carcasses are gathered into heaps and burned.

Fatal Collision. Lawrenceburg, Ind., Sept. 23.—The Lawrenceburg and Aurora connection train collided head-on with a freight train of the same branch on the Big Four road, near here. Fireman Ben Magee of the passenger crew, living at Indianapolis, was killed outright, and Engineer Edward McMullen was probably fatally injured. Engineer Charles Lamb of the freight train sustained internal injuries. His fireman, Charles Hillart, escaped unhurt.

Senator Quay's Condition. Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 23.—From information received here from St. Lucie, Senator Quay is in good health with the exception of a slight cold. He is enjoying himself at his winter home with a party of seven friends, and reports of his serious illness are not well founded.

Vacancy in the Cabinet. Ottawa, Sept. 23.—The cabinet passed an order in council appointing Sir Louis Davies, minister of marine and fisheries, to be a judge of the supreme court of Canada. This leaves a vacancy in the cabinet, which, it is said semi-officially, will not be filled for some time.

Bank Robbed. Republican City, Neb., Sept. 23.—The Republican City bank was robbed by safebreakers, and though the bank officials decline to say what funds were on hand, it is thought something more than $1,000 in cash was obtained by the robbers.

Double Murder. England, Ark., Sept. 23.—Henry E. Newell and his wife were murdered five miles southwest of here. A child, who escaped, says the crime was committed by a white man and two negroes.

THE INNS OF NORWAY

PLAIN AND WHOLESOME AND WITHOUT ANY FRILLS.

The Meals Are Formidable Affairs, and Salmon Is Always Served. Guests Are Expected to Eat Heartily and to Wait on Themselves.

At intervals of eight or ten miles along the public highway, usually in connection with the skyds stations, are inns where the traveler will invariably find the comforts if not the luxuries of life—plenty of food and shelter, bed and board. There is no upholstered furniture or velvet carpets or eggshell china, but always neat lace curtains at every window, sometimes in the windows of the stables.

A luxurious American will have to deny himself much that he is accustomed to at home and will encounter experiences and customs that are new and novel to him. But if he is reasonable in his requirements and behaves himself like a gentleman he will always meet with a hospitable although a homely welcome. The Norwegian hotel keepers measure our appetites by their own and give you so much to eat, particularly at the noon dinner, that you are stupid and sleepy all the rest of the day and snooze in your carriage when you ought to be admiring the scenery.

There is no style about the hotels, and the service is poor. The household work is all done by the landlady and his wife and daughters. There are no electric bells, and if you want anything you usually have to hunt for it and help yourself. It is the custom of the country for the travelers to make themselves at home, and you are sometimes compelled to look after your own luggage or it is liable to be left. But you will recover it again after a time. The people are honest, considerate and unselfish, but unpretentious in their hospitality. There are no locks on their doors, for none is needed. Burglars and thieves are absolutely unknown.

The bedrooms are barren of ornaments and easy chairs that we are accustomed to at home. There are no carpets and no rugs on the floor. All the appointments are plain and substantial, without any effort at show and very little idea of convenience. The beds are good, but usually the only cover is a comfortable seven or eight inches thick and as heavy and unwieldy as a feather bed. You can't tuck it in at the bottom or at the sides, and it is always sliding off to the floor. It is too much covering for an ordinary sleeper, and when the nights are warm, as they often are, you are compelled to choose between a chill and suffocation.

The pillows are another nuisance. There are usually a bolster of feathers about the size of a barrel and a little bit of a 4 by 9 pillow an inch or two thick, with pretty trimmings upon it. The big pillow is too big, and the little one is too small, and you solve the dilemma by rolling up your overcoat into a ball and using that instead. There is plenty of fresh, heavy, home-made linen—large, square towels that have been woven under the same roof during the long winter days.

The breakfast is abundant and often terrifying. You are at first confronted with five or six different kinds of cheese, an equal variety of cold meats, tinned fish, smoked herring and salmon, cold boiled ham, three or four kinds of cold sausage, strips of dried reindeer meat and half a dozen different jams and preserved fruits. You are expected to partake freely of that sort of provender and usually do so until boiled eggs, veal, cutlets and other hot food will soon follow if you are patient. The coffee is usually good, and there is always an abundance of rich, thick cream. There is no warm bread, but five or six kinds of cold bread baked from wheat, rye and oat flour, besides the national "fatbread," which no Norwegian table is ever without.

The dinner is a formidable affair after the fashion of the ordinary European table d'hôte, with soup, fish, roast, salad, preserves and pudding, while for supper you get the same assortment of cheese, cold meats, fish, sausage and preserves that you have had for breakfast and two or three hot dishes. Fish is the staff of life and salmon the mainstay. It is served in some form at every meal, fried at breakfast and supper and boiled for dinner, with strips of cold smoked salmon of a deep rich color on the side at all meals.

The lakes and rivers are well stocked with salmon trout, which are caught in nets and kept alive in tanks until they are needed. You enjoy them the first five or six meals, but after you have had them seventeen or eighteen times in succession they begin to lose their relish. Beer is the ordinary beverage. Everybody drinks it. Claret and Rhine wine can be had at the larger hotels, but never any whisky. Local option prevails throughout Norway, and in the country districts the sale of spirituous liquors is forbidden.—W. E. Curtis in Chicago Record-Herald.

Half and Half.
"Have you suffered much from toothache?" asked the dentist.

"A little," answered the young woman in the chair, "but not much. My teeth, I suspect, are like mamma's. She has never had anything done to hers, and she hasn't an unsound tooth in her head."

"How are your father's teeth?"

"Poor papa! His are all gone. They never were anything but mere shells."

"Well," said the dentist, breaking in to her as gently as he could, "it's very evident that you inherit your upper jaw from your mother and your lower jaw from your father."—Chicago Tribune.

AUTO-COACH

MADE ITS INITIAL TRIP MONDAY MORNING.

Badly Jarred on Way From Mansfield Machinery Needed Adjustment. Second Coach Here Soon.

One of the two auto-coaches intended for use on North Third street, arrived in Newark Monday morning in charge of Mr. Day an expert from the Hubbs & Beardsley Manufacturing Company, at Mansfield, O., where the vehicle was built. The coach was brought down on a B. & O. train and was unloaded about 11 o'clock before a large crowd of people at the B. & O. passenger station. As soon as it was unloaded some of the members of the company who were present, invited Senator Miller, Mayor Atherton, Captain Warden and F. S. Wright to take the first ride up town. The coach had been badly jolted on the freight train down from Mansfield, two windows being broken and part of the machinery being put out of adjustment. The operation of the coach was unsatisfactory to Mr. Day, who said that the engine would have to be properly adjusted during the day before it would work satisfactorily. The coach was taken about the public square, then made one trip up North Third street. Mr. Day expects to have it in good trim for operation before night.

There has been much curiosity to see the new coach and wherever it stopped crowds gathered to examine it. The auto-coach, which is operated by means of two gasoline engines, is a very handsome vehicle and is built to carry a dozen passengers. The entrance is at the front on the right of the operator. The coach is upholstered in black leather and is supplied with electric signal buttons, carbide lights, adjustable curtains and windows.

Mr. Day reports that the second coach is only a few days behind the one which has just been delivered. It is the intention of the new Auto-Coach Company to run the vehicles from 6 a. m. to midnight. Mr. James Mills is manager of the company's affairs.

WEDDING

Of Miss Louise Hammis, Formerly of Newark to Mr. Frederick Brown at Saginaw.

The marriage of Miss Louise Hammis, formerly of this city, to Mr. Frederick Brown, took place at the residence of Rev. Fr. Emerick of St. Andrews church, Saginaw, Mich., last Wednesday afternoon.

Following the ceremony the young couple were given a wedding reception at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. John Hammis, 2701 South Washington avenue, Saginaw. Only the immediate relatives were present.

The bride wore a handsome gown of mouseline de soie and a veil, and carried white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss McClees, was also dressed in white and carried roses. John Hammis, brother of the bride, was best man. In the evening a surprise was given the bride party by the members of the South Side band, going to the home and giving them a fine serenade. The festivities were continued to a late hour, after which Mr. and Mrs. Brown went to their own home, 1025 South Fourth avenue, which was already prepared to receive them.

THE HANDY FOLDING RULE.

An Old Standby of the Mechanic in Greater Demand Than Ever.

"There are about a million different kinds of rules," said a dealer in hardware and tools, "the rules being something of well nigh universal use in one form or another in pretty much all trades, but here's one old standby that we sell more of now than ever, this being the folding rule."

"There are plenty of rules that fold, the commonly known two foot rule being a familiar example, but this particular old rule that I speak of is known by name as the folding rule."

"It is made in foot long sections, in various lengths, ranging from two to ten feet and over ten, if required, but three feet, five feet, any number of feet, the rule, whatever its total length, folds up completely into a bundle a foot long. The slots are thin and folded up, and even a ten foot rule takes up little room. It can be quite conveniently carried in the pocket."

"Lots of people use folding rules—plumbers, for instance, in measuring pipes and in measuring places for pipes. In measuring a distance greater than the spread of the arms with a tape two men are required, but one man can measure with a folding rule as far as the rule can reach, and with such a rule he can, single handed, measure around corners or in the angles of wall and ceiling or in any other bend or crevice. We sell lots of them nowadays to electricians, who use them in measuring for wiring houses, and we sell them to various other users, the six foot rule being the one most commonly sold."

"Such rules, of whatever length, are sold by the foot, at 8 cents a foot."—New York Sun.

FLOWER AND TREE.

Pruning to excess or too frequent or too long is weakening to the tree.

When a branch is removed, the cutting should be close, leaving no stub.

The apple, pear, quince and thorn can be grafted one on another, with varying success.

Wormy fruit in the orchard is best disposed of by the sheep. They eat all without making any choice, as pigs do. Planting a few trees every fall or spring, as may be convenient, helps materially to keep up a supply of good fruit.

The cherry, peach, apricot, nectarine and almond require a light, dry and warm soil, but may be grown on loose, sandy soils.

Salt-peter is recommended as a quick acting fertilizer for flower beds that seem to be languishing, especially those that show small and pale leafage.

Peach and plum trees are both less liable to diseases when grown in the poultry yard. The trees will make a better growth and at the same time afford shade for the fowls.

Germaniums that have been used for summer bloomers will not flower again until the late spring months. Geraniums for winter blooming should be grown especially for that purpose by keeping the flower buds nipped off until August.

Love at First Sight.
We talk of love at first sight, but what shall we say of people who have never seen each other marrying and being not unhappy? "Courtin'," said an Irishman, "is like dyin'—sure a man must do it for himself."

In some countries—as, for instance, Sweden—this is not the case. There the marriages of young people are made for them by their parents, and they only begin to court when they are wedded. This sounds wrong and absurd in theory, but it often works well in practice. Indeed young people ask the advice of their parents much too little about that which is perhaps the most serious and important undertaking in life—marriage. Too many of them are like the young lady who said she hoped she might be cut into ten thousand triangles if she did not know more of everything than did her mother. So they consult no one and insist on gaining experience at a great cost to themselves.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Paper Quills.

In some parts of England there is quite a trade carried on by poor people in making paper quills for their poorer neighbors. They are simply composed of sheets of brown paper sewed together and perforated all over at distances of an inch or two apart, covered with clintz or creteline on one side and lined with patchwork or old sheets—anything available, in fact. They make surprisingly warm covers and are much appreciated.—London Tit-Bits.

SEPTEMBER TERM

OF THE COMMON PLEAS COURT CONVENES.

Judge J. D. Jones Presiding—Numerous Cases Called Up at Opening Session—Grand Jury.

The September term of the Common Pleas Court was convened this morning by Judge Jones.

The case of the Licking county Agricultural Society vs. The Columbus, Buckeye Lake and Newark Traction Company was decided by the Court. The case was argued Sept. 10, and submitted on a motion by the defendant to dissolve the temporary injunction heretofore granted against the defendant. The action was brought to enjoin the defendant from laying its tracks on Union street from the south corporation line to Pine street, the petition alleging that the construction of a second track would obstruct the street and seriously interfere with access to and from the fair grounds. The court found that an injunction would properly be granted against obstructing the street with a second track. The Court stated that nothing in the decision would prevent the defendant from running over Union street from the south corporation line to Pine street over the tracks of the Newark and Granville street railway, and while the court would not permit an additional track, yet the Buckeye Lake company should have the power to acquire, by proper legal proceedings, the right to operate their cars upon the Newark and Granville tracks.

Judge S. M. Hunter appears for the plaintiff; J. R. Fitzgibbon, Pomerene & Pomerene and Marriott & Tompkins for defendant. Bond for appeal was fixed in the sum of $200. In several cases against Storer & Co., submitted on motion to retax costs, the court overruled the motions. Hineman; Kibler & Kibler. J. A. Flory vs. Rhoda Geiger, judgment for amount of tender. ## DOCTORS DISAGREE ABOUT BULLET.

Harmonious in action before the death of their distinguished patient, the eminent physicians in attendance are now taking sides in the question of whether the fatal bullet was poisoned. Dr. Mann, whose portrait appears above, is inclined to take a negative view of the question. A dispatch from Buffalo elsewhere in this paper, says that no poison was found on the bullets used by Czolgosz.

Mr. Reymann will be remembered as the engineer in charge of "The Lincoln" fire engine that was sent here from Cincinnati when the new Court House burned in 1879, and he also tested our present engine "The Licking," representing the Ahrens fire engine manufacturing company of Cincinnati. Captain Foley and Cliff Rosebrough entertained the gentlemen while in the city.

Had Narrow Escape.

A farmer and his wife residing south of the city, had a narrow escape Sunday. As they were crossing the Sixth street railroad crossing a train came along the engine of which struck the rear wheels of their vehicle, tearing them off and throwing the occupants out. They escaped serious injury, receiving only a few bruises.

NEW PHYSICAL DIRECTOR.

E. T. Fitzgerald who has been elected physical director of the Newark Y. M. C. A., has arrived from Sewickley, Penn., and has begun his work. Mr. Fitzgerald is an experienced man and achieved great success at Dayton prior to his removal to Pennsylvania two years ago. He will at once reorganize the business men's class, which was so successful last winter. Mr. Kerser, former physical director, is now located in Decatur, Ill., as director for the Y. M. C. A.

HANS' LATEST DEAL.

HE MAKES ANOTHER ATTEMPT TO GET RICH.

The Tailor Gave Him an Idea That Promised Good Results, but Finally Ended in Making Matters Worse For the German Cobbler.

[Copyright, 1901, by C. B. Lewis.]

Dot little Sherman tailor, he comes in main place one day and yhalks oop and down and looks around and says:

"Hans, you vhas now in America for three years, and yet you don't understand der peoples. Why, mans, if I haf your shop for one year only I vhas a rich mans. It must be dot you vhas blind."

"But if some shoes don't come to be fixed how can I do?" I says.

"Make 'em come, Hans—make 'em come. In dis town was two hoenered thousand shoes to be fixed, but if you don't make 'em come to you it vhas no good. Shust look at me. Five years ago I starts in peesness mit two patches and a button, and today I vhas wearing diamonds. Do you belief I sit down and wait for coats and pants to come to me?"

"Vell, how shall I do?"

"Get epp some excitement, make der peoples know and talk about you. Good heafens, mans, peoples vhas dying for new ideas, but you sit down here like some knots on logs and don't make a dollar a day."

"If only some war would come!" I says.

"War! War! Dot vhas der werry thing!" he yells. "Hans, you vhas safed from der poorhouse. Yes, you small talk war and get oop soch excitement as neffer vhas. Do you know about Mexico?"

"Mayne I do."

"Vell, it vhas no deference. You shall talk about war mit Mexico, and der peoples vwill come in droves. Ha, ha! It vhas all K. O. In one week you haf three shoemakers on cement patches. Make all ready for tomorrow."

In der morning he hangs me oop a sign dot says: "War! War! War! We shall haf some wars mit Mexico and take her in. Recruits wanted here. Apply so quick ash neffer vhas. Room for two more."

Dot sign makes me proud, and dot little tailor laughs and pats me off der back and says he vwill introduce me at some banks. In ten minutes a man comes in and says:

"Cobbler, how vhas it about war?"

"She vhas coming," I says.

"But I don't see it in der papers."

"Mayne not, but I shall bring on some war shust der same."

"Oh, you vwill? Mayne you believe you vhas bigger ash der United States?"

"Mayne I do."

"Where vhas dot Mexico?" he asks after a little while.

"Dot vhas my peesness," I says.

"Oh, ho! Say, now, Dootchmans, your head vhas loose, and you better go and wedge him tight. If I haf ten shoes to mend, I don't bring her to a fool."

I like to know about Mexico, but before I can go by der butcher another man comes in. He vhas a bums. He stands in der door and wafes his hat and burrahs, and den he comes in and says:

"Good for you, cobbler! I like to fight Mexico for more ash twenty years, but I don't get some chances. Now der time vhas come, and you vwill see me wade in blood up to my neck. Hih! Hurrah! Put down my name ash quick ash you can."

"Dot vhas all right," I says.

"Of course she vhas all right, and I show you how a brave man can fight and die. Yes, I vhas mit you, cobbler, and now I'll go out and drink mit you."

"Not today"

"Vhat! Vhat! I fight for you and die for you, and you don't buy me any beer! Soch things cannot vhas."

"Not today."

"Oh, I see! Werry well, cobbler. Now you look me in my eye vwhile I say dot you vhas some yellow dogs, and if you speak to me some more I shall make your heart ache. Bah! Pst! Humph!"

I belief dot sign vhas no good, and in two minutes I haf her down if some older mans don't come in. He vhas a big mans, and he don't smile ash he points to dot sign and says:

"Who says we shall haf some more war?"

"I do," I says.

"Oh! Haf you got some things against Mexico?"

"I haf. He kills my brudder Carl."

"And so you get up a war on your own account? Cobbler, you vhas a brave man."

"Yes, sir, I vhas."

He goes out, and I takes dot sign down, but in three minutes dot fat policeman comes running oop and says:

"Hello, cobbler, but why don't you send to me and tell me dot news? If we haf some war mit Mexico, mayne I haf to go along and die for my country."

"We shall haf no war," I says.

"How you know about dot?"

"Because I step her. I make oop my mind dot I don't like some troubles. Der sign vhas down, der war vhas ooffer and some goose hanges high."

He likes to know more about it, and when I tells him how it vhas he gets red in der face and says:

"Ho, ho! So you vhas fooling der public and raising oop excitements. I like you to know dot vhas against der law. I vhas in some saloons after my beer when I hears about your sign, and I show you some little tricks."

Um he grabs me and slams me till I can't yell no more, and when he goes out he slams my door and breaks der glass. I told der little tailor how she vhas, and all he says vhas:

It's a New Game.

"Let's play that you're the Venus of Milo," exclaimed the resourceful young man.

"What's the object of that?" she asked.

"Why, it would be utterly impossible for the Venus of Milo to slap the man who stole a kiss from her," he explained.

The game proved to be a most enjoyable one.—Chicago Post.

Testing a Theory.

"And do you really insist upon kissing the bride?" asked the somewhat jealous young bridegroom.

"Of course," replied the western justice who had just performed the important ceremony. "You see, young chap, I am disputin' them cranky scientific theories about kisses communicatin' disease. I kissed over 200 brides last year, and I ain't seen the first sick day yet."

GASTRITIS.

Caused by Some Irritant Acting Upon the Mucous Membrane of the Stomach.

Inflammation of the stomach, gastritis, as this unpleasant affliction is variously called, may, like most inflammatory diseases, be acute or chronic in its course. The symptoms of gastritis are more or less fever, weak pulse, loss of appetite, coated tongue, foul breath, bad taste in the mouth, the head aches dully. There is sensation of weight or distress in the stomach. Gastritis is caused by some irritant acting on the mucous membrane of the stomach, the irritant is often formed in the stomach by the fermentation of indigestible food. Gastritis will never develop if you take regularly Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the guaranteed cure for indigestion, constipation and all diseases arising from stomach troubles. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an all the year round medicine. Good for the whole family from the smallest infant up. It is the best life insurance. Sold at Hall's and Johnson's drug stores, 50c. and $1.00 bottles.

WHERE IS THE FARMER'S SCYTHE?

LIGHTNING FLASHES.

HOW THEY ARE EVOLVED AND THE ENERGY THEY POSSESS.

Inhabitants of Compactly Built Cities Have Little Cause to Fear These Mysterious and Destructive Balls From the Clouds.

Without doubt lightning was the first electrical phenomenon that was observed by human beings. To this day it remains the least known and least understood of natural electrical manifestations except, perhaps, the aurora.

There is a vast deal of popular misconception concerning the danger of lightning and the nature of it. The lightning flash is a discharge from a cloud at a high potential with reference to the earth. When the atmosphere is charged with water vapor and some eddy or current in its colder upper strata is deflected downward, causing condensation, exceedingly minute drops of water are formed, each bearing an electrical charge. The condensation of these into larger drops results in a very great increment of the potential of the charge since the capacity of the drop varies with its diameter, and the volume of the drop with the cube of the diameter.

The consequence of this is that it takes, for example, eight drops consolidated to make one of twice the diameter of the constituent drops, and the charge on the surface of the consolidated drop will be four times as great as that upon the surfaces of its elements. In this way, as the small water particles unite to form drops which fall as rain, the potential of the charge they carry increases until it attains enormous values, and the lightning flash leaps to the earth, which may be regarded simply as a body of very great electrostatic capacity. The discharge, which is called lightning, is apt to be more or less destructive, although the energy of an individual flash is perhaps not very great. Often the conditions are such that the discharge takes on an oscillating character, producing violent surges of current. No very accurate measurements have been made upon the current involved, but it is taken to be of the order of 1,000 to 5,000 amperes. The electro motive force necessary to cause a flash a mile long is probably several million volts, and of course the power of the flash measured in watts is very great, but its duration is correspondingly short.

Protection of property and life from lightning flashes has been a subject that has attracted the attention of natural philosophers since Franklin sent up his historic kite. The net result of more than a century of attempt to secure protection has been the lightning rod in its more or less inefficient forms and the discovery that buildings of modern construction, having metallic roofs and often metallic frames as well, are practically immune from attack by lightning.

The total number of deaths due to lightning in any given summer is comparatively very small—in the ratio of about one to each 200,000 population in the United States. In cities the destructive influence of lightning is exceedingly small, although occasional fires are caused by it, especially where gas pipes abound.

Protection of electric circuits from lightning has been an interesting subject for research for a number of years, and several highly efficient devices have been constructed for this purpose. Today lightning is little feared by the station superintendent and should be very little feared by any one. The time honored rule that it is wisest to keep in the open and not seek the shelter of trees is one which common prudence dictates. Recourse to the feather bed of our ancestors, however, is no longer necessary except to quiet the nerves of timorous persons, while the ancient superstitions regarding handling steel instruments and sitting in drafts may be utterly disregarded. A modern building in a city is as nearly absolutely lightning proof and those in it are as nearly absolutely protected from lightning as is possible.—Electrician.

OUT DRIVING.

Mrs. McKinley Doing as Well as Can Be Expected.

Canton, O., Sept. 23.—Dr. Rixey said there had been no material change in the condition of Mrs. McKinley and that she is doing as well as could be expected. He said, "She went out for two hours' driving and still seems to be holding her own." The drives were taken in the family carriage, an open survey, when the president had sent on from Washington for use during the summer vacation. Dr. Rixey and Mrs. C. Barber accompanied Mrs. McKinley. The first trip was to the cemetery and it was taken at the request of Mrs. McKinley. A much longer drive was taken at the suggestion of the doctor who feels that his patient is benefited by all the outdoor life she can stand and can be induced to take. These outings have always had a tendency to produce sleep and rest.

Woman's Deliberate Suicide.

Manistee, Mich., Sept. 23.—Sitting in an upright position in one corner of the barn in the rear of her residence, Mrs. Mary Bumpke, 62, calmly awaited death by a fire which was apparently set by her own hand. When William Bumpke was awakened by neighbors, who discovered the barn after a fire had been started, he found his wife, who had retired with him, was missing. No great anxiety was felt until after the flames had been subdued, when the half-burned trunk of the woman was found sitting upright in one corner of the ruin. She had been in poor health for some time.

Killed His Sister.

Marshfield, Wis., Sept. 23.—While having a loaded shotgun the 9-year-old son of John Wilk accidentally fired the weapon and hit his 11-year-old sister, who was standing near. The shot entered the child's neck, tearing the face and practically tore the head from the shoulders.

Swift Justice.

Nebraska City, Neb., Sept. 23.—Hall Plagman, a negro, was murdered his stepdaughter Feb. 17 with a shotgun, was arraigned, indicted, tried and sentenced to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary in less than 30 minutes.

Miss Stone Still Held.

As a Food For the Skin.

To Make it Smooth, Healthy and Beautiful, Dr. Chase's Ointment is Hailed by Thousands of Fair Women.

Every woman, no matter how beautiful her skin, finds need at times of some preparation to overcome the redness and roughness, and to cure the pimples, blackheads and skin irritations.

Powders may cover up the disfiguring eruptions, but can never cure them, and are positively injurious because they clog up the pores of the skin.

Dr. Chase's Ointment is a food for the skin. It is readily absorbed, and thoroughly cures each and every skin disease, making the skin smooth, soft and clear.

No woman's toilet is complete without Dr. Chase's Ointment, for besides being the most perfect skin beautifier obtainable it can be used in a score of different ways. It absolutely cures eczema, salt rheum and the itching to which women are especially subject. The ointment does not cause pain when applied, but soothes the sore or inflamed surface, and immediately stops itching of the skin when applied.

When the feet are sore and chafed with walking an application of Dr. Chase's Ointment takes out the smarting and allays the inflammation in a surprisingly short time. Then for burns, scalds and every sort of chafing, irritation or eruption of the skin Dr. Chase's Ointment affords a safe and certain cure. It has come to be indispensable in scores of thousands of homes in the United States. It does not cause pain when applied; 50 cents a box, at all dealers, or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

HOLD-UP

Men Terrorizing Railroads in Maryland—One Member of a Band of Negroes Fatally Shot.

Cumberland, Md., Sept. 23.—The railroads hereabouts are being terrorized by negroes, who are attempting to hold up the trains. Following the Mt. Dallas affair a week ago, in which William Fry, an outlaw, was killed by a passenger, an attempt was made Saturday night to hold up a B. & O. freight train on the Pittsburg division, 30 miles above here, by negroes. One of them, Robert Johnson is at the Cottage Hospital, Connelville, in a dying condition. Fireman John Price killed him with a load of deer shot.

Engine 1,108, hauling extra freight, was moving slowly when six negroes boarded the locomotive and demanded of the engineer that he stop the train. Several of the men presented revolvers, but this did not deter Price from letting fly with the shotgun which he kept in his cab. The contents of one barrel entered Johnson's head, tearing his scalp, nose, eyes, cheeks frightfully. He fell from the engine and his confederates fled dragging him along. They put him in care of a physician and then escaped. This morning the wounded man was received at Cottage hospital. No one accompanied him, but a paper pinned to his coat told the story of the affair. He is in a dying condition. Detective Robert Sheppard, of the B. & O., and a posse of special officers are scouring the mountains for the outlaws.

H. C. KNOEDLER DEAD.

STRIKING THE RIGHT SPOT.
That's the Great Secret of Newark Praise Given to Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills.

There come times to every life when a lack of strength—falling appetite—poor circulation—weak heart action and many other symptoms may break in. They are not diseases—the person may not be laid up until they have existed a long time. The influence of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills is to create Nerve Force and immediately people find themselves getting well because Nerve Force controls every vital organ of the body.

Mrs. J. W. Halmay of No. 479 North street, Newark, Ohio, says: "I was troubled with general nervousness and my heart gave me considerable trouble, weak and irregular in action. I was recommended to try Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills sold at Bricker's City Drug Store and they gave me the best of results. I can recommend them to any one."

Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are sold at 50c, a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. See that portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package.

TIRED OF LIFE

WM. WOODBURY DECIDED TO END IT ALL.

By Jumping Into Canal—When He Changed His Mind Two Companions Threw Him In.

Last week, William Woodbury, who served with the Newark company during the Spanish-American war, at Camp Alger, became tired of life, and decided to "end all."

He made his intentions known to Webb Paul and Lee Beatty, who offered to accompany him on his melancholy trip, to the Ohio canal.

When Woodbury arrived at the scene of his self-imposed taking off, between Third and Fourth streets, he weakened, and in spite of the urging of his companions, he refused to "shuffle off this mortal coil."

Messrs. Paul and Beatty were there to see a tragedy, and they were not to be disappointed. They took Woodbury up and threw him bodily into the canal, and then took to their heels. The next time Woodbury wants to go the German route he will not tell Paul or Beatty of his intentions, but will silently steal away and give the coroner a job.

DUTCH REBELLION

Whole of Cape Colony Now Reported to be Abilize—Even Cape Town Threatened.

London, Sept. 23.—A most alarming letter from Cape Town is published by The Daily Express in which the writer discusses situation thus: "The Boers are overrunning Cape Colony. They are on both the coast lines and within 40 miles of Cape Town. Even the intelligence department does not know how many colonial rebels have taken up arms in the last fortnight. The town guard of Cape Town has been ordered to hand in the magazine rifles and ammunition, ostensibly because these were wanted at the front. Martini-Henrys have been served out instead." In conclusion the writer declares that "the Dutch element in the colony is in revolt, and it is useless to disguise the fact."

The war office has received the following dispatch from General Kitchener, dated at Pretoria, Sept. 22:

"General Kitchener, while endeavoring to force a passage of the Orange river near Herschell at 1 o'clock Friday morning, reached the camp of a party of Lovati's scouts. He failed to cross the river, but the scouts lost heavily. Lieutenant Colonel Andrew Murray and Captain Murray, his adjutant, were killed. Deeply regret the loss of Colonel Murray, who throughout the war had led Lovati's scouts with great gallantry. Under cover of darkness the Boers managed to carry off a gun. They were promptly followed up and the gun was recovered in a smart engagement, in which Kitchener lost two killed and 40 taken prisoners." General Kitchener also reports that the British captured by the Boers in the ambush at Scheepers Nek, Sept. 17, have been released, and that the British casualties in the recent Vlodavonten engagement, when the Boers captured a company of mounted infantry and two guns, were one officer and five men killed, 23 men wounded, and six officers and 100 men taken prisoners. He announces that these prisoners have since been released. He further reports the capture of two commandoes, one consisting of 55 men, under Commandant Koeks, who were taken, together with their entire transport, west of Adenburgh, and the other consisting of 54 men, including P. J. Botha, who were taken, with 48 wagons and their belongings, 45 miles southeast of Carolana.

GATE CITY GUARDS

Given a Prominent Place at Canton on Last Thursday—In '87 Presented Flowers to Company G.

One of the touching features of the funeral cortege at Canton last Thursday was the crack drill company of the South, the Gate City Guards of Atlanta, Ga. It is very similar to the State Fencibles of Ohio, having been organized some time previous to the Civil War. Upon its honorable roster appear the names of the most noted men of the South.

The City of Atlanta feel the same pride in their guards that Toledo does for its famous cadets. Company G had the pleasure of camping with this noted company at the National Drill at Washington, D. C., in 1887, and on this occasion the Gate City Guards won the second prize over many competitors.

The boys of Captain Warden's company, G, will remember a floral piece presented by this company to Company G, at Washington as a mark of friendship. It was a beautiful star of tuberoses, and was on exhibition in the window of Kusters, restaurant in this city at the time.

At Canton the Gate City Guards marched with the Ohio troops as they had requested. They were between the Eighth regiment, O. N. G. and the "Cleveland Grays." They made a fine appearance and were complimented throughout the entire line of march.

RECOVERED

The Overcoat That Was Stolen from George Huff at the Hotel Warden Some Time Ago.

The police have succeeded in recovering the light overcoat, which was stolen from Mr. George Huff, at the Hotel Warden, for which theft: Walter Clarke is now in the county jail under a $200 bond for burglary.

Last week Clark was arrested, charged with breaking open a trunk at the Warden, and stealing three suits of clothes, an overcoat and a pair of pants, and some underwear. The pants were worn by Clark at his preliminary hearing before the Mayor, as was the underwear. All the other articles except the overcoat were found by the police, and the overcoat has now been located. It was bought by Douglass Woodard of Granville, from a colored man, for $1.25, on the West Side of the Square. Officer Rinshart, through Thomas Jones, court bailiff, secured a claw, and asked Mr. Woodard to bring the coat to Newark. It was identified by Mr. Huff, and the purchaser will be taken to the county jail, to identify Clarke, as the negro who sold him the coat.

NO POISON

Found on the Bullet Used by Assassin Czolgosz—The Prisoner's Sanity Tested.

Buffalo, Sept. 23.—No poison has been discovered on the bullets or the revolver with which the anarchist assassinated President McKinley. Chemical and bacteriological examinations were made and both revealed the fact that no poison was used by the murderer. Another examination to determine the exact mental condition of the prisoner was made in the Erie county jail by Dr. Carlos G. McDonald of New York, the alienist, who was brought here for the defense by the Erie County Bar association, and Dr. Arthur W. Hurd, superintendent of the Buffalo state hospital. The alienists were with the assassin for one hour and a half, and when they left both declined to discuss the case. District Attorney Penney and his entire staff spent quite a while at the city hall preparing for the trial of Czolgosz, which began before Justice White in Part III of the supreme court Monday morning. Mr. Penney had conferences with the alienists and with city chemist Herbert M. Hill, who submitted his report upon an examination of the bullets and revolver.

Anarchists Hold the Fort. Spring Valley, Ill., Sept. 23.—Twenty anarchists, armed with double-barreled shotguns and 1,000 rounds of ammunition, are standing guard over the office of L'Aurore, the notorious anarchist publication which expressed joy at the murder of President McKinley and satisfaction over the announcement of Assassin Czolgosz that he was an anarchist. Meanwhile fully 2,000 citizens of adjoining towns have sent word to the authorities here that they are ready and extremely anxious to start at a moment's notice for this city and assist in exterminating the reds. The anarchists and their sympathizers number fully 500, and if this step is taken it will mean that one or two of the mines will have to close down until other men can be brought in. The anarchists threaten to hold a mass meeting.

Herr Most Jailed Again. New York, Sept. 23.—The police of Newtown, borough of Queens, arrested Johann Most, the anarchist, as a disorderly person. They suspected that he was going to conduct an anarchist meeting in a saloon in Corona, L. I. They also arrested Christian Fricke, proprietor of the saloon. Herr Most was gathered in while haranguing a crowd of 500 people. There was a scramble for the door when the police appeared, but the officers succeeded in capturing Most as well as several men whom they claim to be prominent in getting up the meeting. The officers were forced to use their clubs on several of Most's protectors. A lot of papers and a red flag were also seized. Back of the saloon is a large hall, where the meeting was in progress.

SMALL CALIBER RIFLES.

How They May Be Kept Clean With a Squirt of Water.

"Now, I'll tell you something that will save you the trouble and expense of bringing this gun to me again," said the expert gunsmith to the owner of a .22 caliber magazine rifle, the barrel of which had become so foul that it would not shoot true. "The rifles of this gun are not leaded. They are simply caked up with powder. All small caliber rifles get that way when ordinary, soft bullets are shot out of them. This caked powder is as hard as steel, and if I were to try to get it out with instruments I would ruin several dollars' worth of tools. Water is the thing to use. Water is the greatest solvent known, but very few people, particularly people who handle guns, seem to appreciate it. They nearly always try to clean their gun barrels with oil when water will do the work twice as well.

"You use this rifle mostly for shooting frogs, don't you? I thought so. That is what most men use a .22 caliber for. And you sometimes shoot it several hundred times a day, and you find it too much trouble to wipe it out every few shots. Ain't I right? I know it. Now, let me tell you what to do. Get a small syringe that you can carry in your vest pocket, and after every ten or twelve shots squirt a syringe of water into the barrel of your gun from the breech, then shoot a cartridge out of it while it is wet. If you will follow this plan, you can shoot your gun 10,000 times and never need to clean it. The water softens the powder that has accumulated in the rifles and the bullet forces it out.

"Use plenty of water in the barrel of your rifle, very little oil in the lock, and never under any circumstances put coal oil in the works, and you will save yourself much vexation and always have a smooth working gun."—St. Louis Republic.

Children's Meals.

Children should be taught to be regular at their meals and to take nothing between meals. This rule applies to infants as well as to older children. The practice of feeding the little one every time it cries is a most serious injury to its weak digestive organs. An infant's stomach, though it needs food at more frequent intervals—two to four hours, according to its age—requires the same regularity which is essential to the maintenance of healthy digestion in older persons. The irregularity usually practiced is undoubtedly one of the greatest causes of the fearful mortality of infants from disorders of the digestive organs, as appears in our mortuary reports.

Cornmeal.

Before using cornmeal in a bread always scald it to soften its starch. There is not time enough during the baking for this to be done properly. Do this by scalding half of the milk or water you use, then pour it hot over the cornmeal. Next add the eggs, the rest of the cold liquid, then the flour and baking powder sifted together.—Good Housekeeping.

Pepper.

The value of pepper was known of old. We read that when Rome had to be ransomed from the barbarian conqueror in the year 409 Alaric demanded 3,000 pounds of pepper among the payments and that Hippocrates used it in medicine, applying it to the skin.
